

The Autumn Exposition

The Courtesies of This Store

—are yours, absolutely—for these OPENING DAYS are to be sight-seeing days. You need have no fear of being importuned to buy, for it's our desire that everyone should have the fullest authoritative Styles and other matters of supreme importance to all women at the dawn of this new season.

Our Fall Exposition

COMMENCES TOMORROW

And will Continue on Thursday and Friday, September 25th and 26th, 1919

It is but natural that this store should endeavor to excel all its own previous efforts in the Exposition for Autumn, 1919. The styles are now definitely developed—the latest Fashions for every occasion and requirement from the world's accredited sources are here awaiting your approval. Artists and designers who have invoked their Gods for inspiration—inventors who have devised new processes for manufacture—all deserve due credit for the wonders which greet you on your visit to the store during this great event.

BLOUSES

Many of Autumn's Blouses sponsor crepe Georgette and very cleverly this filmy material takes colorful woolen embroidery as its ally. One of the most adorable of all the enchanting modes featured is the Overblouse type, roundly youthful neck-line and girdled with contrasting sash or matching belt. Another is enhanced by bold floss, soutache or woolen embroidery for in each case the result is equally bewitching and desirable. These exquisite affairs range in coloring from the delicate pastel tones to vivid Flambouyant reds and the dark subdued suit colors. Fashion is unusually indulgent as to sleeves allowing milady choice of varying lengths.

SKIRTS

So suggestive of Autumn are most of these gloriously smelling Skirts that one can almost smell the pine needles along woodland paths at sight of them, and they could be walkable enough don for the long walks more appropriate—than the sportive plaid model in which golden yellow, purple and grey are combined so "dearly". And fashion is kind to the walker for in many models she presents plaid skirts. These plaid skirts are very good looking and will be even more so when in company of the Caps and accessories which, again, will be so much in vogue. But goodness, our enthusiasm over the woolen modes we must not forget to mention that the silk models are delightful too.

MILLINERY

Perched on the very pinnacle of smart Fashions are the new models designed especially for Autumn. In her endeavor to launch modes, new and original, Fashion has not been slow in the use of the fact that in millinery subtlety with the season is a prime virtue and not to be dealt with lightly. Typical of autumnal keeping with the changing weather are to name are the Hats of duvetyne, plushes, and velvets artfully developed and gracefully embellished. Even winter is vaguely hinted at by models of ultra modish contour.

FROCKS

We won't need to tell you they are new for one glimpse will convince you that in styling and ornamentation they are utterly different from any we have ever shown. There are exceedingly trim models with their straight lines only interrupted by belts, surprisingly narrow. A good deal of material choice is offered of tricotine, Poiret twill and duvetyne. You will want at least one of the tailored Frock for mornings just as you will, no doubt, just a more elaborate silk Frock for afternoons.

SUITS

Tailored or trimmed, the Suits for Fall forecast superb changes in style. The fabrics are more luxuriant in texture, more velvety to touch than for many seasons. Foremost are silverytones, velours, and duvetyne. Immense pockets, cleverly formed by a fold turned back from the hem of the jacket are numbered among the more interesting Suit innovations of Autumn. Jacket lengths vary although they are inclined to be longer. The wide variety of pocket types are semi-fitted for the present part, while the shorter models are loosely belted. Many panel effects are in evidence and the majority of them are bordered with fur. Fur also is used for standing up and shawl collars.

COATS

Coats—dozens of them—offered for the first time during the Autumn Exposition are most diverting in line and treatment. The effect of long, straight lines is admirably accomplished and assisted by panels, slender and otherwise. A chic band of fur modishly finishes the hem of a number of palets and oft-times an embroidery motif appears just above the fur. At such times the coats are also apt to take collars and cuffs of the same fur, and since there are innumerable women who possess their own fur, fashion has very thoughtfully provided a distinctive collection of garments in which not a sign of a pert is evident.

LIVING MODELS

Will Parade in an Elaborate Fashion Revue

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Afternoons from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock, (2nd Floor).

A stage has been specially erected for this occasion in order that everyone may have an uninterrupted view of the models.

ORCHESTRA IN ATTENDANCE

Each Parade of Living Models will be repeated in the evening at

THE ALLEN THEATRE

Fri. 9 to 9:30 o'clock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with elaborate costuming and electrical effects.

All ladies who are unable to attend the Fashion Revue in the afternoon on the 2nd Floor at The Hudson's Bay, as well as gentlemen, will be afforded a chance to view the magnificent assemblage of Fall styles at the Allen Theatre, Wednesday night.

FURS

Style is essential in Furs as in Clothes made of fables. A woman who lacks the assurance of style creators that her Wrap or her Stole or her Muff has the proper line—the modish silhouette. Such assurance our patrons have. Even though line and length, however, is the quality of the peltries, for on this depends the satisfactory wear of the Fur. Utmost confidence can be placed in these offerings, for the reason, namely, ultimately the greatest economy.

ACCESSORIES

We are showing a choice selection of the season's newest novelties in Hand Bags, Gloves, Hosiery, Veils, Necklets, and Handkerchiefs, etc., that are distinctive and expressive of one's individuality. Accessories will make or mar your fall ensemble, and the wisdom of making discriminating selection was never more necessary than at this fall season.

GO WINDOW SHOPPING TONIGHT
Elaborate displays of the season's most authoritative styles in Fur Garments, Suits, Coats, Waists and accessories are being featured in our show windows. A special trip up town will be well worth while tonight.

Behind the Footlights

VAUDEVILLE'S OLDEST
QUARTETTE AT PANTAGES.

Thirty-four years is a long long time for an act to be sustained with vaudeville, and its original success but such is the good fortune of the Bison City Four, who constitute one of the most popular acts of this week's Pantages variety bill. The Bison City Four was first given to the vaudeville public when the varieties were considered the most popular form of entertainment, as recalled by the historian of "The Empire," dates back to 1894. In 1913, four years later, that four men from Buffalo, N.Y., named themselves the "Bison City Four" and opened on the "warm-up" seat of the then famous "Empire" with "Buffalo," known as the "original" comic combination, harmonica and considerable comedy. It was a success, and they stayed on. As the years rolled by the personnel of the quartette changed, until Milt, Hughes and Roseo replaced Con and Art Pikes but the act has weathered the years of 35 years and remains with the organization today. The present members are G. G. Hughes and Roseo. The present organization of the Bison City Four, who are the newest Pantages Circuit, twice in two years after their first appearance on road and the Avon Comedy Four with them, are the only ones remaining in the varieties.

When the war broke out in August, 1914, the Bison City Four were in Belgium on their fourth tour of Europe. They represent one of the few amusement companies that have stood the test of time under one name. The Bison City Four, who are the newest Pantages Circuit, twice in two years after their first appearance on road and the Avon Comedy Four with them, are the only ones remaining in the varieties.

BRIGHT MUSICAL COMING.

In this day of dance and gaiety "Make Yourself at Home" is a bright, up-to-the-minute musical comedy, up-to-the-minute in Empire theatre for three nights starting Monday, September 15, with a Wednesday matinee. The story is a new one, based upon a true, native music. Relaxing and gay, it is a comedy that has sold largely through the theatres and radio, though it is mostly in popular demand in night clubs and in movie houses. It is a picture in view. "Make Yourself at Home" is a picture that will interest all, a story of romance, richly embellished with comedy, which is not a lively score which includes singing, dancing, whistling and dancable tunes. It is a picture that will bring the joy on the billows of mirth.

EMPIRE—One cannot recall any picture film drama of quite so much interest to every element comprising the Empire audience as the silent drama "The World Aflame," which opens at the Empress theatre for the last time this week with Frank Keenan in the leading role.

It is a play for thinkers, a picture with a message, a drama of life and death, a drama of love and hate, a drama of the drama of tides situation, of vivid and intense action, the drama with the drama.

It is the third offering by Mr. Keenan, the well-known screen and stage producer, and every minute of its running time the master has every person attending the picture, while it may not only express but demand of us all that we are not only a good citizen, as Frank Keenan is. Summed up, "World Aflame" is one of the strongest pictures ever released by the Pacific Exchange, Inc., which will handle it.

Today is the last time to see the most dramatic, made locally, the McFarland Empire picture, showing the scenes of the recent visit here of the famous Charlie Chaplin. They are very true to life and have been well received by all who have seen them. Charlie Chaplin picture and Charlie comedy complete the Empire's program.

Starting Thursday and continuing for three weeks, the latest and greatest picture of the wholly unusual variety "Hoop-La," featuring Billie Rhodes. It is a picture that will bring you to the edge of your seat.

BRIGHT—One can always find something new on roadways. One does not always approve of what one finds, however, but the latest offering, a former matinee idea whose spark of wit and humor has been carried by a steady stream of the fun with the excesses per cent., came into one of Charles H. Hodges' comedies and set the necks of everybody in the place to tingle. It is a picture that will amuse, polishes. And Hodges approved.

No, she did approve, but she was decidedly interested and not only in the picture, but in the man who valuated on this man with the spark of genius to cut out—well, this is not a picture to be taken seriously. "The Weaker Vessel," because it will be the screen's better narrator than printer's ink. Mary McLaren, popular actress, is the star, and J. B. Thurston Hall is the actor, and J. B.

BURNS AND LYNN—"Tickles and Taps," an outstanding feature of this week's Pantages vaudeville bill.

Hanks, infinite comedian, is—what he is.

ALLEN—"Upairs," a comedy by Harry Puerto Sherman, is the newest addition to the Allen theatre, which comes to the Allen theatre, starting today. On the same bill will be the Hudson's Bay company on living models.

She is given a chance to prove her worthiness after seeing her peeking through a window. The girl is a good dancer, and when she is called to the basement where she works, she proves her worthiness.

DREAMLAND—In the right atmosphere, the Dreamland, the organ used by professional criminals, have been acquired by Miss Priscilla Dean, famous for her "Knot" fun show. She will be appearing in the Dreamland in photographs, during her consecutive performances, and the pictures which have made her work in past "crook" successes ring true to the life they depict.

Not that Miss Dean ever expects to make any practical use of her knowledge except for the purpose of her own amusement, but she believes the theory that everything must be well done, even if it is the duty of police to make her a female yeggman.

NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 24, 1919

Explanations Please.

The British Columbia fruit commissioner at Calgary protests that the order of the board of commerce has been violated; in that sugar has been brought into this province and actually sold to people who wanted it to eat, while the law says that sugar should be sold only to people who wanted to preserve British Columbia fruit.

To the contrary comes a telegram to His Worship the Mayor from the secretary of the board of commerce saying that a merchant places himself within the clutches of the law if he refuses to sell sugar to whoever wants it, whether the customer buys other goods or not.

So there you are. The sugar situation is glorified to the transparency of mud. Nobody is to be sold sugar unless he buys B.C. fruit at the same time. If a merchant refuses to sell sugar to a customer unless he buys B.C. fruit, the merchant is to be prosecuted.

One thing seems clear enough. Whether the board of commerce is trying to "keep on top" or on the pretence that it is the order of the board of commerce; or else the board actually did issue an order that no one should get sugar unless he bought fruit, and is now breaking down.

Needless to say, if the board of commerce could spare time enough from breathing out fire and slaughering the public to try to explain what is what in this place of the sugar business, it would confer a great and much appreciated blessing upon the non-plussed, the bewitched, and the sugar-hunting consumer. If it is to be feared that some will have to go to jail for something,

The action of the company is in line with the general policy of the board of Public Utility Commissioners, that the board has no jurisdiction over the rates agreed upon between the company and the citizens concerning their use of the services they are applying of the company. This decision the board bases upon the fact that the city council has not passed a resolution formally putting the operation of power under the jurisdiction of the board of Public Utilities Act.

The inference is that, had the council done so, the board would have been compelled to raise the rates if the company could establish that the cut-off exceeded the cost of fruit, and as they pay for it, they claim the privilege. What drag has the British Columbia fruit commission that promises to be the authority of the board of commerce that people in Alberta shall not get sugar unless they buy British Columbia fruit?

The Results of Class Rule.

A general election is under way in the province of Ontario, and the results of development that in several constituencies difficultly has been found in getting candidates to run as supporters of the Government. Conservative members of the Legislature have withdrawn their support from the administration and there are rumors of a formidable conspiracy to remove other members.

Sir Alonzo Clark, their leader, while throughout the province there is not a dissolution of the party's strength and organization.

This shifting of allegiance, it is reckoned, does not mean that the Liberals are making converts from the ranks of their traditional opponents, but that the United Farmers are gaining strength at the expense of both the Conservatives and the more numerous or the more conspicuous. If that is the case it is neither unusual nor out of keeping with what is taking place in the other parties of the Dominion, and suggests that the process of restoration is running its accustomed course.

In the case of the Hearst Government it will be because the friends of that Government at Ottawa lead the way in introducing class-mates as the basis for political organization and action. The Union Government is a class Government. It was formed for the protection of the weaker men in the party which stood against the party which stood up against the exploitation of the public by the more fortunate or privileged elements of society.

At the time being the strike was successful. And the moment it was seen to be successful, the farmers on the one hand and the wage-earners in the cities on the other began to turn to political action. When one class assumes dominance, other classes naturally organize for self-protection.

That the farmers began organizing for different ends than the organized workers is obvious from the fact that they only began to do so when the party which stood as the enemy of privilege and the champion of economic rights became betrayed and helpless.

Should the first effect of their doing so be the downfall of the provincial Government most closely associated with it, will it not be a case of "chickens coming home to roost"; and an event perhaps significant enough to cause the breakdown of class rule at Ottawa and bring about a new system of Government "for the general advantage of Canada."

Exit the Power Company.

Presumably the Alliance Power Company is within its legal rights in shutting down the power plant on twenty-four hours' notice; though the exercise of its powers in such summary fashion was not necessary and is not calculated to gain public sympathy for the company—that was the hope. It is still less likely to stampede the citizens into willingness to accept an increase in the rates under conditions which the company declared forced them to resume operations.

For though the company has quit, the water, light and power will not be cut off. The city simply cannot afford to do without the company upon the scene, and the household will not, for the time at least, know that a change in management has occurred. He may find it out later, but he will be too late to do anything about it. He may find it out later, but he will be too late to do anything about it.

A LITTLE TIME IN THE PUBLIC DEBT
Giant Grower's Guide.

During his stay in Okanagan Mr. Gordon purchased crates of strawberries which he shipped to his father in Houghton, North Dakota, back where they were raised.

He had no idea of the cost of a crate, including the express charge to Regina that strawberries of a certain quality cost him $1.60 to $1.70 a crate.

He says that he found British Columbia strawberries cost him $1.60 to $1.70 a crate, and when he advanced of 100 per cent, and customers who cost only 2-3 cents each paid him 10 cents each.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP IN NEW ENGLAND.

Financial Post, Toronto.—According to a report compiled of the operations of New England railroads, resulting in annual deficit of $22,346,000, the railroads have been much more proportionately than the automobile industry to depend on road solvent. This is a solid argument for the contention that the same sum should be returned to government.

“DIVIDE AND CONQUER”

G. O. Porter in Toronto Telegram.

Mr. G. O. Porter in the Canadian Press, October 22, wrote: "The war week on the prairies they interceded in favor of men who were prominent in forming the Canadian Legion in 1917. They frankly admitted the war was a financial burden to the nation, but they also expressed confidence that the division among the Legionaries may become so much more pronounced that the party will prove the atom."

Soviet Government Advocates Try To Start Discussion Before The Trades and Labor Congress

Resolution Urging Adoption of Soviet Administration Is Submitted by Winnipeg Delegate—Delegates Decide That Motion Shall Be Referred to the Resolutions Committee for Consideration.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23.—Advocates of Soviet form of government and its introduction in Canada nearly precipitated a controversy on the subject during this morning's session of the Trades and Labor Congress.

The resolution which urged the adoption of the Soviet form of government and demanded its introduction into Canada was introduced by George Armstrong, Winnipeg, one of the men recently released from prison after serving a term of imprisonment.

He was released on bail and endeavored to obtain the consent of the congress to speak in the resolution.

Other motions, the majority of a more general nature, were put forward by the congress committee of the President's report was Trouble Starts Early.

Trouble started shortly after the opening of the congress by the reading of a resolution, favored by the Soviet form of government, calling for the withdrawal of Canadian troops from Russia and the refusal to finance their return to their native governments.

The resolution was submitted by George Armstrong, Winnipeg, one of the men arrested on a charge of sedition in connection with the strike in that city. Armstrong was locked up on bail ten days ago.

We have to start early. The delegates moved that motion placed on file.

Delegates Armstrong announced it would be referred to the committee on foreign affairs, but as it was received unfavorably, he
